Editor's Pick

Designer Harshita Jhamtani reveals the Earth series of stoneware, which includes five clay table lamps in organic, nature inspired forms. The Mumbai based creative has christened the quintet Rio, Flab, Shroom, Dino and Bloom after their respective muses. We love that each piece is made by hand and offered in a variety of sizes, colours and glazes.

A MATTER OF PERSPECTIVE

Is it a carpet? Is it fabric? Oh, wait, it's a painting! We're bowled over by Madrid born Antonio Santin's Gravitas exhibition currently held at Mumbai's Galerie Isa until March 5, 2021. On display are artworks from the rug series, which showcase Santin's incredible use of trompe l'oeil. The Spaniard has taken his interest in the opacity of fabric as a device to obscure abstract patterns and textures, making these pieces highly covetable. With the help of light and shadow as well as the juxtaposition of flattened planes and contrasting forms, the artist has created an ingenious collection of tangible, seemingly crumpled pieces of floor coverings.

Cushy comfort

The Lama Appliqué Chair by Art Age is an upholstered seater that uses high quality, hand woven cotton fabric with hand appliqué techniques on its front and back. With this, the Jaipur based manufacturing exporter of furniture and furnishings endeavours to revive traditional crafts, including Indian needlework. Website: www.artageindia.com

FLOORED!

This intricate design from the Flatweave collection by Insigne Carpets has us stepping in style. Inspired from the Kashan province of erstwhile Persia, the Persian knotted pure wool floor covering is given a herbal henna and tea leaf water wash for an antique finish.

GARDEN VARIETY

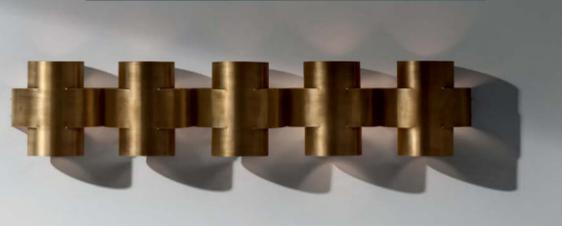

Dandelion by Studio Drift is an intriguing lamp that uses a real flower, which is picked during the spring season in the Netherlands, to truly and surely bring the outdoors in. The floral seeds are then placed by hand on a LED and covered with a glass dome to create an ethereal composition. Available at Studio Onedot6. Instagram: @studio.drift; @onedot6

BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS

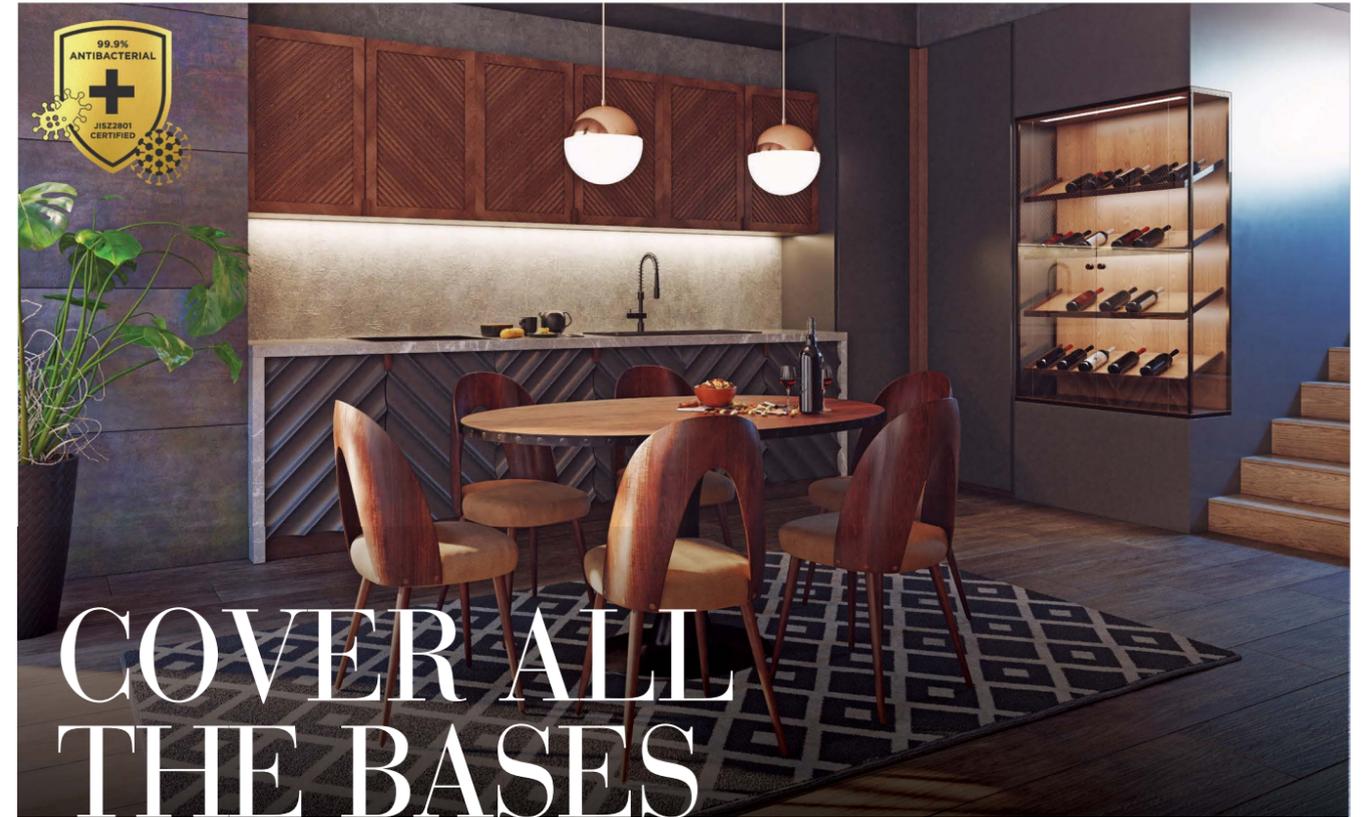

Häfele's latest countertop appliances—the Amber electric toaster as well as the Dome electric kettle—will ensure that you always start your day with a strong meal. The two pieces together help put together a steaming cuppa and a crispy toast to pair with your favourite cereals. Bon Appetit!

+1 for Paul

Designer Paul Matter's latest series is simply titled Plus for the resulting 3D shape of the light fixtures. The brass collection includes a range of appliques in singular or repetitive arrangements and in varied finishes—burnt, aged, buffed brass and buffed steel—to emit soft beams of light. COVER ALL THE BASES

With the launch of the AseptICA Range of Antibacterial Coatings, ICA promises to revolutionise hygienic coatings like never before

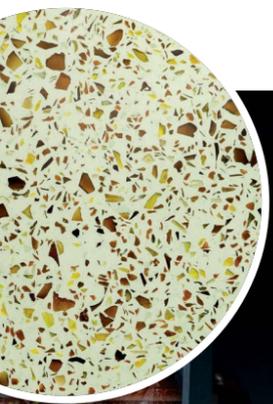

Italian brand ICA's wood finishes have consistently been ahead of the curve and it continues its endeavour to provide the very best with the AseptICA Range of Antibacterial Coatings. In current times when hygiene is of utmost importance, the launch is well-timed, especially considering that the offering is 99.9% antibacterial certified as per Japanese Industrial Standards. So, bid adieu to rigorous cleaning and embrace hassle-free maintenance surfaces. The coatings are suitable for residential, commercial as well as institutional projects such as hospitals and labs where hygiene is vital. An additional benefit for users is that the antibacterial qualities last as long as the coating does. Website: www.icaspa.com

In Frame are the dining areas finished with AseptICA coatings, available in both water-based and solvent-based formulations. These properties are found in both clear and matte variants, making them the ideal choice for perfect natural look of your wood.

SWEET SPOT

Former EDIDA India winner Farzin Adenwalla of Bombay Atelier has launched The Kulfli Project for a good cause. She uses the dessert's imagery to design terrazzo topped tables with the help of Bharat Floorings. We heart that 20 percent of the proceeds from the sales will be donated to various artisanal communities in India. Websites: www.thekulfiproject.com; www.bharatfloorings.com

COOL COLLAB

A SERIES WITH A SOUL

Ayush Choudhary of Cocoon Fine Rugs collaborates with designers Falguni Shane Peacock for the luxurious Meraki collection of floor coverings

“Meraki,” says Ayush Choudhary, “is Greek for leaving a piece of yourself—your soul, creativity or love—into your work. For us, it is the coalescence of two likeminded brands.” Incidentally, the eponymous duo behind Falguni Shane Peacock were looking to venture into home decor. “We’ve been working on soft furnishings such as wallpapers, cushions, etc, so we were excited about working with Ayush from the beginning.” The resulting relationship with creatives Falguni Shane Peacock led to a young and bold series that’s dramatically different from the rug company’s aesthetics. “Each piece is handmade with high quality wool and hand spun silk at our Jaipur workshops. They are also discreetly monogrammed with the designer’s FSP logo,” shares Choudhary. “After eight months of ideating and a year to finalise and make them, we have an array of edgy and high glam rugs that set a new benchmark for art and design,” add the designer duo. The series includes FSP leitmotifs such as chains, flowers juxtaposed against intricate designs, medallions, links and hearts that spell ‘I love you always’, and is likely to leave viewers floored! ♦ Saloni Rege
